14.2 Computing partial derivatives

Let $z=f(x,y)$ be a function. To compute $f_x(x,y)$, you treat y as a constant and differentiate x's like in calculus 1. To compute $f_y(x,y)$, you treat x as a constant.

→ Do all problems.